DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

1. Applicant's arguments filed 03/02/2009 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

In re pages 5 and 6, applicants disclose that the cited Shi reference is the opposite of applicants Fig. 6. Applicants disclose that Shi suggests cutting off power to the optical disk player 150 (Applicant's processing section), whereas applicant's claim 1 suggests cutting off power to the optical disk drive 160.

In response, the examiner respectfully disagrees. Claim 1 recites said disk start control means carries out control so as to apply power to said processing section without applying power to said disk section. The processing section of Shi is the optical disk drive (160) that works with the personal computer whereas the disk section of Shi is the optical disk player. With the optical disk drive (160) being the processing section and the optical disk drive (150) being the disk section, the Shi reference is the same as applicants Fig. 6.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claims 1 – 3 and 5 – 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Ellis (US 2004/0103434 A1).

As to claim 1, Ellis discloses a disk apparatus (66)(see [62]) comprising :

a disk section (hard disk) of recording and/or reproducing at least one of video, audio and data (see [62] and [63]), a processing section (tuner) of processing at least one of said video, audio and data (see [63]), disk start control means (72) of controlling said disk section and said processing section (see [69] - [71]), and disk start mode setting means (183, 185) of setting either one of a disk start disabling mode (record no) of disabling the start of said disk section and a disk start enabling mode (record yes) of enabling the start of said disk section (see [71] and [106]), wherein at the time when power ON operation is carried out (see [69]), in the case (1) when said disk start mode setting means sets said disk start disabling mode (record NO), said disk start control means carries out control so as to start said processing section (tuner) without starting said disk section (hard disk), and in the case (2) when said disk start mode setting means sets said disk start enabling mode (record Yes), said disk start control means carries out control so as to start said disk section (hard disk) and said processing section (tuner) (Paragraph 106 discloses the option to either record or not record. If record Yes is chosen, paragraph 63 discloses the tuner and the hard disk working simultaneously also see [59] and [60]). On the other hand if Record No is chosen, paragraph 61 discloses the signals going straight from the set-top box to the television.)

As to claim 2, Ellis discloses a disk apparatus in accordance with claim 1, wherein said disk start mode setting means is set in said disk start disabling mode in a production shipment stage (see [106]).

As to claim 3, Ellis discloses a disk apparatus in accordance with claim 1, wherein said disk section is a hard disk of carrying out recording and/or reproduction on magnetic disk media (see [62]).

As to claim 5, Ellis discloses a disk apparatus in accordance with claim 1, wherein said processing section is a tuner of receiving broadcasting (see [55] and [63]).

As to claim 6, Ellis discloses a disk apparatus in accordance with claim 3, serving as a recorder (PVR) equipped with a hard disk (see [62]), wherein said processing section is a tuner of receiving broadcasting (see [55] and [62] – [63]).

As to claim 7, Ellis discloses a disk apparatus in accordance with claim 3, serving as a DVD recorder equipped with a hard disk (see [62]), wherein said processing section is (1) a tuner of receiving broadcasting (see [55] and [62] – [63]) and (2) an optical disk section (compact disc recorder) of recording and/or reproducing said broadcasting received on an optical disk (see [62]).

As to claim 8, Ellis discloses a disk apparatus in accordance with claim 3, serving as a television set (64) equipped with a hard disk (see [61] – [63]), wherein said processing section is (1) a tuner of receiving broadcasting (see [55] and [62] – [63]) and (2) a display section (64) of displaying said broadcasting received (see [55] and [61]).

As to claim 9, this is a method claim corresponding to the apparatus claim 1.

Therefore, claim 9 is analyzed and rejected as previously discussed with respect to claim 1.

As to claim 10, this claim is similar to claim 9 only in that claim 10 is a computer program claim. Ellis discloses a microcontroller or microprocessor that is used to execute software applications (see [53] and [56]).

As to claim 11, grounds for rejecting claim 10 apply to claim 11 in its entirety.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claim 4 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ellis in view of Lee et al (US 6,466,391 B1).

As to claim 4, Ellis discloses a disk apparatus in accordance with claim 3.

However Ellis does not disclose wherein the safety zone of said hard disk is present on said magnetic disk media.

Lee discloses wherein the safety zone of said hard disk is present on said magnetic disk media (see column 1, lines 12 – 24, column 1, lines 35 - 48, column 4, lines 2 – 6 and column 7, lines 11 – 18).

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have made the safety zone of the hard disk system present on the disc media as taught by Lee to the apparatus of Ellis to prevent inadvertent damage to the data region of the disc (see column 7, lines 11 – 15).

Conclusion

6. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
